Year 6 Blog - 13.11.26

It has been another busy and exciting couple of weeks in Year 6, with lots of visitors, new experiences and opportunities to learn. The children have continued to approach their learning with enthusiasm, curiosity and a fantastic attitude, making the most of everything that has been happening in the classroom.

We have been very lucky to welcome some special visitors into school over the last fortnight.

Ann Angel visited us to share her knowledge and understanding of Judaism. The children really enjoyed finding out more about Jewish beliefs, traditions and celebrations. They had the opportunity to ask questions and even try some traditional bread, which was a lovely way to bring their learning to life. It was wonderful to see their curiosity and interest as they explored a different religion and culture.

We also welcomed Oliver, who delivered an incredibly valuable session on life-saving skills and CPR. The children learnt about the importance of knowing what to do in an emergency and how their actions could potentially help to save someone's life. They were able to develop their understanding of CPR and practise some important skills. It was a fantastic hands-on experience and the children listened carefully, asked thoughtful questions and showed great maturity throughout.

In Art, we have been embracing the colours and beauty of autumn by creating some bright and vibrant autumn artwork. The children have explored different colours, patterns and techniques to capture the changing season. They have shown wonderful creativity and imagination, producing some fantastic pieces of work that really brighten up our classroom!

We have also introduced our new morning sessions on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. These sessions provide an additional opportunity for the children to develop their skills, revisit learning and build their confidence at the start of the day. It has been lovely to see the children settling into this new routine and making such a positive start to their mornings.

We are looking forward to another fortnight full of learning, laughter and new experiences in Year 6!

Kind regards,

Mrs Ransome
